DETAILED ACTION

Claims 40-77 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 40-44, 71, drawn to a Ble fusion protein and a method of purifying a ble fusion protein.

Group II, claim(s) 45-59, drawn to a probe and a method using the probe.

Group III, claim(s) 60-67, drawn to a purification media comprising a large surface to volume area comprising a target surface presenting one or more analyte capture moieties comprising an antibiotic from the bleomycin family.

Group IV, claim(s) 68-70, drawn to a method for generating soluble forms of an insoluble protein comprising the steps of i) generating a library of protein variants; and ii) selecting colonies for the presence of a soluble protein by expressing the protein as a ble fusion protein and selecting an antibiotic from the bleomycin family.

Group V, claim(s) 72-76, drawn to a method of identifying the cellular localization of a protein.

Group VI, claim(s) 77, drawn to a kit for the production of an array comprising a ble vector and a surface derivatized with an antibiotic from the bleomycin family.

The inventions listed as Groups I-VI do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature linking Groups I-VI appears to be that they all relate to a Ble (fusion) protein which is able to bind to the bleomycin family of antibiotics.

Art Unit: 1656

However, Bennett et al. (1998 Biotechniques 24(3): 478-482) teach a Ble fusion protein. Green fluorescent protein (GFP) and the Sh ble gene were fused together to create a bifunctional protein.

Therefore, the technical feature linking the inventions of Groups I-VI does not constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art.

Accordingly, Groups I-VI are not so linked by the same or corresponding special technical feature as to form a single general inventive concept.

Further, this application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: antibiotics from the bleomycin family, i.e. bleomycin, phleomycin, tallysomycin, pepleomycin, Zeocin, bleomycin A2, etc. The species are independent or distinct because each antibiotic is structurally different and has different properties and effects. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. Currently, claims 46-47, 58-59, 64-65 are generic.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
